New London, CT Tuesdays, September 13 through October 18, 2016, 7:00-8:30PM– Sally Ryan, the City of New London's Municipal Historian since 1988, will be giving a six-week guided discussion presenting New London's History beginning with the Connecticut Colony and Pequot War through to the present on Tuesday nights from 7:00 – 8:30 PM. The topic schedule is as follows:

September 13 – The CT Colony and Pequot War

September 20 – New London's Early Years: 1646 – 1775

September 27- The Revolutionary War

October 4 – Whaling 1820 – 1860

October 11 – Railroads and Industrial Revolution

October 18 – 1938 Hurricane to the Present

So come in for this memorable discussion, bring some note taking materials and your inquiries. This event is free and open to all ages. Registration is not required but recommended.

"If you know history, you know your roots. You value who you are and where you came from. ... I think you learn to respect other cultures. You learn to value what they stood for." –Sally Ryan
